Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 22-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Owen et al (US 6,458,830).

Owen et al teaches the generic compound which not only cross embraces the instant generic compound but also have exemplified where R7 can be a substituted piperazine (see ex.134) providing the necessary motivation and guidance to make the instant piperazinone.

There is nothing unobvious in choosing a species from a prior art genus, motivation being that said species would be expected to possess the same or similar properties as their exemplified counterparts, in this case NK-1 receptor antagonists, absent some unobvious or unexpected results.
